

THE FUTURE OF PROJECT MANAGEMENT

The NESTLER System GmbH is a medium-sized company, that emerged from the engineering office Nestler. Since 2007 we have increasingly specialized in the field of project controlling in steel and plant construction.

Our NESTLER System shows all data and information of every single part, every process section on a standardized basis – fully documented, always up-to-date, prepared for every target group and available from any location.

The NESTLER System is not only a software solution but much more a method of operating to support the project management of large-scale projects more effectively.

NESTLER SYSTEM ALL-IN-ONE SOLUTION

The System evolved from the experience gained from the involvement in seven large-scale power plant projects. Thanks to our specialists and our unique software solution we are the ideal partner for project management of large-scale projects, especially in steel and plant construction.

We provide you with a unique service and an extraordinary cost-benefit ratio. Benefit from the most advanced solution currently available on the market. Discover the difference and participate in the future of cross-company project control.
